Truck, train collide east of city

BELLE GLADE - No one was seriously injured in a collision between a train and a truck east of Belle Glade on Airport Road Tuesday, November 9.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Larry James Terry, 40, of 816 SW Avenue B in Belle Glade, said he didn't hear the train approaching when he started to cross the tracks. The vehicle he was driving, a 1976 Ford Truck, was struck in the right side by the train at about 10:15 a.m.

Terry was treated at Glades General Hospital and released. He was travelling east on Airport Road and the train was northbound at the time of the accident.

No charges have been filed, and the conductor of the train was uninjured.

The truck was knocked into the canal which runs parallel to the tracks, and the train was derailed in several places.

City should buy back pension time

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee City Council was told by its attorney Tuesday night, November 9, that the ordinance is adopted in 1979 creating a pension for Mayor Duncan Padgett is illegal and that it should repeal the ordinance and buy mayor's back from the state pension fund if it still can.

There are doubts whether the city can purchase the time, however. Councilman Ronnie Graydon said he understood there was an opinion from the state attorney general's office that once a municipality decides not to purchase the back time of an individual, it cannot decide to do so later.

Padgett had served as Pahokee mayor for 20 years before retiring in 1980. Only seven of those years were served under the state pension plan which was adopted by the city in 1973. At that time, the city council decided not to purchase his back time from the state for pension purposes. In 1979, the city council adopted what council members call "the mayors ordinance," which created a pension for Padgett upon his retirement a year later.

Stauder said the city may have to include the other elected officials who had served prior to 1973 in that ordinance for it to be legal. City Clerk Betty McCoy and Police Chief Carmen Salvatore III were both elected to their terms prior to then.

The city attorney also said the ordinance is illegal because the city is legally prevented from competing with the state pension fund.

In other words, we're in violation right now, and we know we're in violation," said Graydon.

"Yes," said Stauder. Councilman William A. McKinstry suggested the council buy back any action on the pension ordinance or purchasing the mayor's back time from the state until after Stauder determines exactly what must be done to correct the situation.

Stauder agreed that was a good idea. McCoy said she will get the time of service of both her and Salvatore to send to the state so the city can find out how much it will cost to purchase the back time of all three employees.

Salvatore took over as city marshal in May of 1969 and McCoy was elected in 1972.

"It's gonna save the city thousands of dollars by buying it back as opposed to paying it out of the city's funds," said Stauder.

Stauder added that a proposal that the city give Padgett an expense account that he wouldn't have to turn in receipts for was also illegal.

"It's like giving away tax dollars," said Stauder.

Go-ahead given on trash plan

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade City Commission Monday night, November 8, gave the go-ahead to plans to install half a dozen trash collection stations in the city.

Larry Thompson of the city sanitation department presented the plans with a drawing to the commission. He said the stations would serve two functions: they would help improve the city's trash service and they would give people a place to take their trash instead of leaving lying in front of their property.

"It's nothing new. Other places have it, but I'd like to see us get something started too," he said.

Strang accepts city manager offer, city to review contract Nov. 22

BELLE GLADE - Tommy Strang has officially accepted the city's offer and is expected to take over as City Manager of Belle Glade December 1. If the city commission approves his contract at the next regular meeting November 22, according to City Clerk June Boglioli.

Strang was offered the position about a month ago after Rolfe Wagner announced his intention to seek employment elsewhere. Wagner has since left to assume duties as city manager of Aztec, New Mexico.

Strang is currently employed by Briley, Wild and Associates, but is retiring after 20 years with the company on November 19. City officials have been optimistic that Strang would take the position during the month since he was offered the job at a special meeting.

He had been offered the same position two years ago but turned it down, choosing to stay with Briley, Wild instead.

Some years prior to that, he had been offered the position of public works director.

He has been working in the Belle Glade area as a project manager in several of Briley, Wild's projects for the city since the late 1960s.

New computer system operates in city

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - After almost two years of searching for and selecting the appropriate unit, a new $87,750 computer system was installed at the city hall recently became operational at the Belle Glade city hall.

"The negotiations alone took 120 days," said William Underwood II, the assistant finance director.

The new system replaces an old computer that was about four years old. Underwood said the old system wasn't capable of handling the work load he wanted from the city system, so when selecting a replacement system, he took his time find a more appropriate set-up.

"If we had gotten everything we wanted, it would have cost us about half a million dollars instead of $87 thousand," he said.

The hardware for the new system, purchased from Microdata out of California, cost $64,950. The hardware includes eight cathode ray tube (CRT) terminals, a line printer, 50 megabytes and a black box which enables Microdata's computer in Miami to "talk" with the city's computer.

The black box can be used for troubleshooting and for modifications to the system, according to Underwood.

The megabytes are hard disks which store the information. The addition of one "chip" can increase the computer's capacity to 128 megabytes. Increasing that capacity also increases other capacities of the computer.

With the current 60 megabytes, the city is operating 10 CRT's (it purchased two others recently) and two line printers. If the number of megabytes were increased to 128, the city could operate up to 48 CRT's and four line printers.

Expansion wouldn't have to necessarily stop there, according to Underwood. If it had to, the city could add another block of megabytes and increase its capacity even further.

Underwood said he doesn't see that happening. "If you need 128 megabytes, you have an awful lot of information," he said.

The software for the system was purchased from Municipal Management Services for $22,800. It includes programs for the payroll, finance, fund management and utility billing.

Other programs could be purchased and used on the system, such as programs for the police department and public works.

Because of its expansion capabilities, Underwood said he thinks this computer will serve the city from five to 10 years before it has to be replaced.

When the city was making the changeover to the new system, all the data in the old computer

Teen plays on despite blindness

By ALMA HENRY

He says he can share first-hand with a family "the promises of God" of his presence and strength...really works."

What provided the test of faith for the family began when Jennifer, the oldest of three children, was diagnosed as having a rare muscular degeneration, which affects the eyes.

According to Jennifer, at first the family denied the possibility of eventual blindness and all had mixed reactions to the news when she was 15 years that it was approaching rapidly.

"I was confused, I guess," recalls Jennifer, "and a little bit up to me. I wanted to cry but I didn't want to cry before my parents."

A former honor student at Florida Christian School, Jennifer said she also covered for her blind friend.

Eventually she told her friends without bitterness or fear of their reactions and was quite surprised when her friends accepted her.

Jennifer now openly discuss her blindness and "shares" her "miracle" through concerts throughout South Florida.

One of Jennifer's compositions entitled "Gratitude" contains the lyrics:

"I give you every tear drop to mold me into what You want me to be, in gratitude to Thee."

She says that what she has been through has strengthened her faith. "It has helped me to realize what, really means to have faith, to trust in the Lord, to lean on Him."

While in Belle Glade, Miss Jolly also visited with the Music and Bible classes at Christian Day School.

Miss Robin Waggoner, music teacher at Christian Day School arranged to have Miss Jolly visit Belle Glade.

Annual turkey shot set for Dec. 10-11

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade Rotary Club will hold its 10th Annual Turkey Shoot from 5 to 9 p.m. Dec. 10 and 11 behind the old I.D. Walker Building at 627 N.W. Ave. L.

The grand prize again will be a Winchester Model 94 22M .32 caliber magnum lever action rifle, with the winner being drawn at 9 p.m. Dec. 11.

Shot Chairman Fritz Stein said the only change this year was brought about by increasing prices for shotgun shells and turkeys.

"We considered going up on the price of the tickets," Stein said, "but we decided to increase the number of shooters instead."

This year, instead of having 10 shooters to the stand, there'll be 12, with a turkey being given away on each stand.

The annual shoot is the only fund-raising event for the Rotarians, Stein noted. The shooters fire at a line of cards 35 yards away and the winners the one who can get a pellet closest to the center of an "X" on the card.

Shooters may bring their own 12 or .410 gauge shotguns but must use the shells provided by the club.

Who will be the administrator?

One medical question was recently resolved by the voters of Hendry County and another will soon be answered by the Hendry County Hospital Authority.

The voters said in a referendum that the ambulance service should remain under the control of the hospital authority.

We congratulate the voters for their good sense in keeping the ambulance service where it is now. The ambulance service, like any other government services, needs the scrutiny of a duly appointed or elected board.

Keeping the ambulance service under the hospital authority, which routinely makes decisions affecting the health care of local residents, is only logical.

One of the big decisions the hospital authority has facing it now is the selection of a hospital administrator.

It is a very important job. The authority is seeking a leader, a qualified professional, and a problem solver.

Serious problems confront hospitals everywhere and resourcefulness, integrity, and honesty are important assets to have. The selection of an administrator will have ramifications which could affect Hendry General Hospital for years to come.

At stake is nothing less than quality health care which local residents have a right to expect from their hospital.

SMOKEOUT

AND WHAT NOT

Reading between the ads

Appliance stores sell appliances, grocery stores sell groceries and newspapers sell news, right? Wrong. Newspapers sell advertising. They live the news away for nothing.

Every inch of reading in a newspaper that isn't sold is free space whether it's occupied by sports, society doings, government goings-on, or What-not.

When you submit something to the newspaper to be printed, be it a club meeting announcement or a letter to the editor, the space you get free was bought and paid for by an advertiser.

Well, you may say, if there wasn't any news in a newspaper, why would anyone advertise? They wouldn't. They'd take their advertising money and go elsewhere -- to radio where they'd pay for a spot, squeezed in between the music and chatter and hope it was heard at the moment it was broadcast because, unlike the newspaper, you can't "tune in" on it later.

A newspaper without news is a "flyer." It's something you get in your post office box that the advertiser hopes you won't drop in the waste basket on the way out without even looking at it.

A newspaper is an agreement between the advertiser and the publisher. The publisher says to the merchant: "You advertise in my newspaper and I'll print a paper that people want to read and part of what they'll read is your advertisement."

Newspapers thrive on subscriptions but not because of the income. There is no profit in mailed subscriptions -- the price covers the cost of mailing. If a newspaper makes 10 cents a copy on "rack sales," it collects $10 for every 100 papers sold. That would make it a nonprofit organization quickly.

But that doesn't mean the readers aren't very important people. Because a newspaper has subscribers it can convince advertisers there's somebody out there reading the paper. If a paper can't exist without advertisers, neither can it exist without readers.

The whole arrangement becomes a charmed circle when subscribers read the ads and shop with the advertisers. Then everybody gets his money's worth.

In a recession, the advertising dollars get tighter if people aren't buying as much. Yoked with an inflation, the costs of doing business keep rising -- for the newspaper as well as everybody else.

Those of us in the newspaper business take it for granted that everybody understands this relationship between the reader, the advertiser, and the publisher. Well, everybody doesn't understand.

And can you believe it? We're the people who're always saying, "Don't take anything for granted!"

Editor:

I am a former Hendry County School Superintendent. Jim Edwards' mother and I want to thank you for expressing how you feel about Jim and for seeing him like he really is. I feel the county has lost a strong leader, with enough common sense and education to meet every challenge head on, but I also feel his efforts, and all he did for the people of Hendry County were taken for granted, and not really appreciated by a lot of folks.

Maybe he has paved a better road for his replacement than he had to travel on when he was elected to the office.

I only hope his successors will be able to please all the people all the time. "Thanks!" to all his loyal friends for every courtesy shown him while he was there. God Bless you all.

Sincerely,
Myrtis Whiddon

Living in a small town the size of Clewiston, you hear a lot of bad talk about the local hospital. I would like to say something good. Beginning with the Ambulance crew, Emergency Room, Dr. Kaki, nurse at Station II and Mrs. Biggs, aides, therapist, pink ladies and all the staff that was connected any way with the care and treatment of Jennett Joyner. We had nothing but kindness and love and concern showed to us by the whole staff. Jennett was a patient for over a month from a massive stroke. Everyone was always there with a kind word of hope and encouragement. For this we want to say thanks. It makes us proud to live in a small town. Thanks to all the friends and relatives and churches who showed us so much love and kindness.

We want you all to know with the Lord's help and the great care from Dr. Kaki and the hospital staff. We are happy to say we brought Jennett home. We will always remember the kindness and love showed to us.

Waiting for pie in the sky

I have never known anyone who was just sitting back waiting for a rich aunt to die so that they would become independently wealthy.

But I'm sure that they exist. There is nothing really wrong with wanting to be independently wealthy, so long as its done in the proper manner.

Back in the 1960s, the television program "The Millionaire" had lots of followers. The program struck a responsive cord in folks who thought a stranger might ring their doorbell some day and give them a million dollars, tax free.

Today we know this probably won't ever happen. But many of us have a lucky feeling when we drop our Readers Digest Sweepstakes form in the mail that we are going to win the grand prize.

I think it's a lot healthier situation pegging our hopes for riches on winning a sweepstakes, rather than waiting for a rich aunt to die. To speak nothing of the even bleaker prospects if you're waiting on a rich aunt to die and you don't even have one.

While there might be "pie in the sky" it is usually out of our reach.

You can make the same kind of analogy to real life and your community.

The old cliché that there is no free lunch is true. The business and cultural life of a community doesn't just suddenly get better by wishing it or sitting back and waiting for pie to drop out of the sky.

Progress is made by people working together, planning, and thinking.

It's a fact that bringing just one new, light, clean industry to a city requires years of intensive wooing and working.

A number of efforts have been made in the Glades area over the years to diversify the economic base and bring in industry which is compatible with the agricultural sector.

In Glades County, an Industry Authority was created several years ago and strong efforts made to bring in an alcohol plant. The plans eventually went for naught, but the prospect was exciting.

Now, the Clewiston Chamber of Commerce is backing an effort to help develop Air Glades Airport in cooperation with the county commission.

Results may be years down the road. But a start has been made.

And who can object? Clean light industry which will augment our existing economy can only help all of us.

Sensible planning and foresight can help all communities around the lake grow.

We can either take matters responsibly into our own hands or we can sit back and wait for pie in the sky.

Veterans' Day '82

By the President of the United States of America
A Proclamation

Veterans' Day affords all Americans a special opportunity to honor the deeds of those who sacrificed so much to answer the call to arms during the life of this great country. On this day, our Nation is united in tribute to the valiant men and women who have unselfishly given of themselves to serve in our Armed Forces.

Words alone are insufficient to express our lasting gratitude and admiration to those whose patriotism and courage have ensured our peace and freedom despite threats of tyranny and aggression. Significant disruptions in their lives and other personal hardships have been the price that our Nation's veterans have paid so that the rest of us might enjoy the fruits of justice and liberty.

In order that we pay meaningful tribute to their efforts, Congress has provided (5 U.S.C. 6103(a)) that November 11 shall be set aside each year as a national holiday to honor America's veterans.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RONALD REAGAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby call on all Americans to join in observing Thursday, November 11, 1982, as Veterans Day. I urge both public ceremonies, as well as private thoughts and prayers, in recognition of the great contribution of our veterans to an America that today is an example to all nations of freedom, liberty, and democracy. On this day, let us give special consideration to those who have died in our Nation's wars and to those who have been disabled.

I call upon Federal, State and local government officials to mark Veterans Day by displaying the flag of the United States, and I ask those Government officials to support fully and personally its observance by appropriate ceremonies throughout the country.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 16th day of Sept., in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighty-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and seventh.

City, county board working together

Last week, the Belle Glade City Commission and the Palm Beach County Community Relations Board finally met eye-to-eye and ironed out their differences.

The board had been existence since 1980 when the county commission created it to keep harmonious relations between the county's various ethnic and racial groups.

Since then, the board members had toured the SW Fifth Street area several times, inviting members of the coastal media to go along. The resulting publicity often caused some hard feelings between the city and the board.

City officials accused the board of grandstanding and even troublemaking. The board accused the city of being insensitive to the housing problems in the deteriorated area.

City officials and board members never met.

Finally, early last week, the two bodies, the Belle Glade City Commission and the Community Relations Board, sat down together in Belle Glade and found out the other wasn't necessarily the ogre the other thought.

The board members, for the most part, proved themselves to be concerned but admitted to being uninformed of the city's efforts in the area. The chairman, B. Carlton Bryant, said that the meeting has changed his impression and he would try to relay that to the coastal media.

The city commission showed itself to be concerned with the problems of the citizens living in the SW Fifth Street area, and discussed the efforts it was making towards improving conditions in the area. It admitted to having limited resources.

Perhaps most important, the two discussed ways of increasing the resources for use in the area, and the board offered to help the city obtain funds.

The two bodies working together could make more of an impact than the two working against each other. We can't help but wonder why the two didn't get together sooner. All the chairman of the Community Relations Board had to do was telephone the city clerk to get things started on the right track.

Computer

had to be manually put into the new programs. City employees, including Underwood, had to travel to Miami where they would program the data into the new system.

This was necessary because the black box couldn't enable the Microdata system the city was purchasing to "talk" to the old city computer.

Expansion wouldn't make it impractical for the city to change from one type of system to another because of the bulk of data that would have to be transferred, though.

The black box makes it possible for the Microdata system to "talk" to the computers produced by some other companies.

The new system also has several other advantages over the old system.

It can search for a name phonetically if the exact spelling isn't known. This enables the city to track down unpaid bills of utility customers who attempt to skip out on the bills or reconnect to the city utility systems without paying their unpaid balance.

While most computers have to be "talked" to in a special code that the user must learn, the city's system can be entered and data pulled out using the English language.

"That's really nice," said Underwood. "The English language makes it easier to use."

All users have their own entry codes and can only get into certain parts of the computer's data. Only Underwood has access to all the computer's information.

He also gets a list of everything the computer's users did in the system each day. He can see what operator went into what file and why. If any discrepancies appear in any of the data, he can search these records and trace what changes were made by people entering the computer.

Underwood has been working with computers since 1968 when he was in the army. The first computers he worked on were crude compared to the new city unit. To enter data and make it work, wires had to be plugged into connections. Later he worked on the computers that are programmed with cards.

Since working for the city, he has helped select two computers: the new Microdata system and the word processing system in the city clerk's office.

The new city system has word processing capabilities also.

It also has several games programmed into it. Of course, only Underwood can enter the system to play those.

BETTY JEAN MEYER, a computer operator II, changes a tape on the main unit of the new computer. The old system sits in the background.

Trash

He said he already has sites committed in the northwest, southwest and southeast sections of town.

Each station, which he called neighborhood trash stations, would consist of a dumpster for garbage and the trash collection facility.

The trash stations would be made of redwood or cypress with barn style doors in the front for emptying by the city.

They would have shell-rock floors. Each station could be dismantled if the site it was at became undesirable, he said.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman said he thought the city may end up subsidizing out of town trash disposal if it creates the sites, but Thompson said the city would have to deal with that anyway.

"You're gonna have that no matter what," agreed Commissioner George Goforth, Jr. "Ain't nothing you can do about it."

An eight foot square site will cost $200 and a 16 foot square site will cost $300 to construct. Thompson said he is asking local civic clubs to sponsor the construction of the sites, and the city would construct and maintain them.

"I think it's a real good idea," said Goforth. "Looks pretty," added Commissioner William

Frank Anderson agreed. "I think it's worth giving a try," he said.

In other business, the city commission: * Approved a second interim agreement between the city and the Palm Beach County Community Development Program for the month of November.

* Voted to approve the renewal of the lease on the old city hall annex on SW Avenue E. Dr. Ray Behn, Jr.'s dentistry practice occupies the building.

He was asking the lease be renewed under the old terms, but the city is seeking several changes.

The commissioners decided to ask for $400 a month because of inflation over the five years he has occupied the building. Behn is currently paying $250. They also want to reduce the term to three years.

Altman said Behn has improved the building and he would like to see him remain in it. The commissioners agreed that if the terms are disagreeable to Behn, the commissioners and he could discuss them.

* Voted to purchase a television sewage inspection system from Cues for $39,000.

The city also voted to purchase water meters from two companies.

The city will be purchasing four four-inch Bagger water meters from Sunstate Meter and Supply Company in Gainesville, Florida.

It will also be purchasing four six-inch Neptune water meters from Underground Supply Company, Inc. of Fort Lauderdale.

* Agreed to donate the fee to use the Marina Pavilion back to the West Technical Education Center. This is seeking to use the pavilion for a get together with new faculty members, according to Commissioner William Grear.

* Appointed several members to citizen participation committees.

J.D. Lee III was reappointed to the Airport Advisory Committee, and Francisco Rodriguez was appointed to replace Clay Spas.

Claude A. Tindall was reappointed to the Port Committee.

William Acree and F.E. Hollingsworth were reappointed to the Board of Adjustment and Dudley Barnes was reappointed to the Board of Trustees of Port Mayaca Cemetery.

David Campbell and Naomi Conley were reappointed to the library board.

Eight individuals were appointed to the Municipal Golf Course Advisory Committee: Grant Averill, Paul Dev, Frank Gillis, Jo Knight, John Schlechter and Kathryn Weeks were reappointed and Tim McKee was appointed to fill the vacancy left by Charles Schiele.

* Approved the auction of bicycles and surplus city equipment.

Glades Day School girls volleyball team sets record

The Glade's Day School Girl's Varsity Volleyball Team set a new school record of 15-5 after finishing second in the 12 Class 1A District Championship.

A match against Benjamin, on Friday, November 5 at the Benjamin School in North Palm Beach cost them the district title.

Benjamin never lost control of the game despite the consistent play on the part of Glade's Day. The Gators had some "good shots," according to Coach Rita Schoenfeld, but the competition was "very tough."

We're looking forward to next year, when some of the girl's junior varsity team with their 6-0 season record will help to fill in the varsity ranks," said Schoenfeld. "It will be another chance to use the determination and team play that we had this year."

The starting team was comprised of 6 seniors: Judi Austin, Lulu Blanchard, Mary Lu Blanchard, Laureale Green, Sheila Lashley, Michelle Olden, and one sophomore Jamie Wills. The varsity roster included five supporting players: Yvonne Bowles, Amy Cressh, Melanie Swager, Becky Teets and Mary Lynn Thompson.

Volleyball has only been a competitive sport at Glade's Day School for four years and each year has brought a better season record. They have come up from the 12-2 record of 1979, and both Coach Schoenfeld and Assistant Jan McCarthy were very pleased with the team's performance this year.

"The team this year is not as tall as last year's team, but it is a little more aggressive," said Schoenfeld. "We're a low-key team but we take care of business."

This was evidenced in the Thursday night semi-finals when the Gators fought back from an 8 point deficit to win the game and snuff out St. Edwards chances for the district crown.

The win qualified the team for the final match that took place at the Benjamin School on Friday night.

Jogger runs for American youth, visits Glades area

By BILL BRYANT

Rob Sweetgall has been "on the run" since he left Washington, D.C. on Oct. 9. He's already run 1,100 miles, but still has 8,900 miles to go before he finishes his journey.

Sweetgall, 34, of Newark, Del., plans to run 10,000 miles for a program called "Run for American Youth." The program is sponsored by the Foundation for the Development of Cardiovascular Health, Kiwanis International, Gore-Tex, Lyons Studios, Ross Loh and Reebok (running shoes), according to Sweetgall. Sweetgall is a founding director of the Foundation for the Development of Cardiovascular Health. He said he formerly worked as a chemical engineer for Dupont Corp., but decided to devote all his time to cardiovascular health after several members of his family fell victim to heart disease.

As he sat sipping a cold drink at Donnelly's Restaurant in Clewiston Tuesday morning, Sweetgall, who has been jogging for 12 years, explained that the purpose of the run is to "emphasize the importance of exercise and physical fitness to junior high and high school students across the United States."

Sweetgall said he and his partner Eric Conrad, plan to stop at one school a day during the trip and give a 45-minute slide/lecture presentation on physical fitness to the students using film clips collected during their journey. Conrad accompanies Sweetgall in a van equipped with audio/visual equipment, while Sweetgall is running.

Sweetgall pointed out that he uses a run/walk technique and said, "I try not to think about how many miles I have left to go. Instead, I think about how many miles I have already run," adding that "I just take one day at a time."

Averaging 40 miles a day, Sweetgall is a half a day ahead of schedule, he said. His longest run in one day is 50 miles and his shortest is 25 miles.

He will rotate 15 pairs of running shoes during the trip.

Explaining his route, Sweetgall said he left from Washington, D.C. on Oct. 9. He will run down the east coast of the United States, across Louisiana and Texas to the California coast, up the west coast to Oregon, along the Great Lakes to New England and end of back in Washington, D.C. in July, 1983.

A typical day for Sweetgall, he explained, begins at 5 a.m. with a breakfast of two cans of Ensure, a completely balanced liquid nutrient. He hits the road at 5:30 a.m. and runs for about three hours before stopping for a second breakfast. He runs a while longer and then stops about 11 a.m. to lecture at a school. After lecturing, he takes a rest break until about 4 p.m. Then, he runs from 4 p.m. until about 8 p.m.

So far, Sweetgall related that the hardest part of his journey has been the hills in Virginia and the curved roads with steep banks near Savannah, Ga.

"Running at night, I didn't dare step off the pavement near Savannah," he said. "It was very hard on my feet."

The rain has not stopped Sweetgall yet, he pointed out that he puts on a Gore-Tex laminated jogging suit when it rains and plans to wear it this winter.

Sweetgall said he was going to run to Moore Haven and then ride back to Clewiston Tuesday afternoon. He called the process, "banking miles."

Sweetgall plans to spend the night in Clewiston Tuesday and visit Clewiston Middle School or Clewiston High School on Wednesday for a slide/lecture presentation.

"I'm just going out for a little 15 mile jog now," Sweetgall told the waitress as he was leaving Donnelly's.

Mrs. Ridgill gets 'roasted'

Mrs. Dorothy Ridgill, who is retiring after 11 years as Hendry County General Hospital (HGH) administrator, was "roasted" Sunday night at John B. Boy Auditorium by friends and employees of HGH.

Her staff at HGH rounded up a fantastic platform of "roasters," who were in rare form and really showed the "roastees" how much she was appreciated.

The roasters included Ellie Hough, Dan McCarthy, Linda Reecer, Annie Parker, Lionel Beatty, Mildred Cox, John Perry, Norma Jean Boardman and Dr. J.D. Forbes. T.R. Myers was the master of ceremonies for the event.

Hilarity rang throughout the rafters at John Boy Auditorium and combined with good food, a fun time was had by all.

Preceding the roast, a supper of steak, baked beans, tossed salad, corn on the cob, rolls, dessert, tea and coffee was served for the approximately 185 persons who attended the "roast."

A surprise attack came from the honored guest in the form of a Last Will and Testament, which was left to Mrs. Ridgill's employees.

Hendry County administrator Lionel Beatty and Dr. Martha Valliant each won a basket of fruit in a drawing for door prizes near the end of the roast.

All proceeds from the roast went to the Intensive Care Unit (ICU) fund of the hospital. Mrs. Mildred Cox, a member of HGH's Pink Ladies auxiliary, presented Mrs. Ridgill with a check for $6,000 toward the ICU and Dr. A. Karim Kaki presented a $500 check.

Friends of Mrs. Ridgill presented her a silver platter during the roast. It was inscribed: Dorothy Ridgill 1971-1982.

ALL THE way from France, Elie and Christine Broussier have pedaled across the United States. This week, they have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pape as they come to the end of their nine-month journey.

MRS. RIDGILL laughs at a barb from one of the roasters. At right is John Perry, HGH auditor.

LANETTE LACY portrayed a Channel 12 TV news reporter during the roast. The skit was in regard to an unannounced visit to the hospital earlier this year by a WPEC TV news team.

ROGER HOLBROOK dropped the box as he was bringing Mrs. Ridgill what appeared to be a TV for a gift. Actually, the box only contained nuts and bolts.

French couple bicycle across U.S., pause in Clewiston

Back in February Elie Broussier, 27, and his 24 year old wife, Christine, asked Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pape if they could spend the night in their pasture.

It is not everyday that a married couple from France intent on bicycling across the United States stops at the Pape household and asks for camping privileges.

So Pape agreed and became privy to a unique story.

The Broussiers, natives of Royan, France, began planning to tour the United States three years ago. They didn't necessarily plan to see the country from a bicycle seat, but it turned out to be the most economical way to travel.

Earlier this year they took leave of their jobs - he as an agricultural equipment salesman and she as a sporting goods store clerk - and flew to the United States to begin their journey.

Carolyn Pape recalls that the Broussiers' English would improve greatly over the next nine months as they visited 10 states and Mexico, traveling as far as San Francisco and Colorado.

Among the sights which impressed the young French couple most were the Grand Canyon and Yosemite National Park.

"Americans are very friendly and the country is beautiful," said Elie Broussier.

The Broussiers had few problems during their trip, even after putting 6,000 miles on their bicycles.

They hope to return to the United States to resume their travels some day.

But their immediate plans are to travel on to Miami then fly to Peru and travel across South America.

Glades schools enter academic games

BELLE GLADE--Seventy-two West Area Academic Games participants traveled to Palm Beach Junior College on Wednesday, Oct. 26 to compete in rounds five and six of the Language Arts competition. These students competed against students from the coastal area schools and Martin County Schools. Results of team standings for the West Area Schools are as follows:

Glades Day in first place in the senior division with 146 points and Pahokee Jr. Sr. High second place with 136 points.

Glades Day is also listed second in the middle division with 153 points. The Glades area had no schools to finish in the top three positions in the elementary division.

In individual standing a score of 36 would be a perfect score after six rounds of play.

According to Mrs. Diane Seider, Chad Hood, of Glades Day School has a perfect score in the middle division.

Carmen Salvatore of Pahokee has a score of 35 points.

In the Senior Division, Janet Clayton of Glades Day has a score of 35 and Eddie Mikovsky also of Glades Day has a score of 34.

In the Elementary division, Johanna Jacks and Adam Salvatore are tied with 34 points.

Mrs. Seider said the next round of play will be held Nov. 16 at Palm Beach Junior College. The final rounds for Language Arts will be held Nov. 23 at the junior college.

DR. A.K. KAKI (right) presents a check for $500 to Mrs. Ridgill toward a new ICU at Hendry General Hospital. Mrs. Mildred Cox, a member of the Pink Ladies auxiliary, also presented a $6,000 check to Mrs. Ridgill for the ICU.

AN INSCRIBED SILVER PLATTER from the HGH staff was presented to Mrs. Ridgill at the close of the roast. At right is Lillian Martel, who made the presentation.

A PAIR OF SHOES was willed to Carol Dooley in Mrs. Ridgill's Last Will and Testament. Mrs. Ridgill said Carol could wear the shoes at the hospital and people would scatter when they heard her coming down the hall.

History of the Everglades...

30 YEARS AGO
THE BELLE GLADE HERALD
NOVEMBER 8, 1952

Southwestern Palm Beach County voters said in no uncertain terms they were in favor of a bond issue to finance the construction of a new local hospital.

With 60 percent of the registered voters casting their ballots, the $1.2 million bond issue passed with a 977-191 margin.

The bond would go toward paying for the construction of a 75-bed hospital which would have the capacity of being expanded to a 150-bed facility on the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital site.

More construction was already under way on what was to become the Second Street Bridge.

Police Chief Charles Goodlett was in charge of building the bridge, using city employees to perform the work.

The work was begun after the city secured a permit from the Central and South Florida Water Control District and knocked the cobwebs and moss off pilings which had been on hand for years.

With two conference games to go, the Belle Glade High football team was undefeated, looking toward the possibility of a championship.

Two Glades Correctional Institution inmates kicked up their heels for several hours following an escape but wound up being arrested for armed robbery, unarmed robbery and kidnapping.

Deputy Sheriff Gibb Gross and Police Sgt. Paul Higby said the escape attempt included the kidnapping of a prison guard, his robbery, the kidnapping and robbery of a deputy and several mad dashes in various automobiles, with pursuit by police, two deputies and highway patrolmen in two counties.

Controlled seining would continue in Lake Okeechobee at least through March 1, according to the Florida Fresh Water Fish and Game Commission, but fees would be increased.

The seining was part of a controversial program designed to improve sports fishing in the big lake, as well as other lakes in the state, but the fees paid by the commercial fishermen to support the experiment wasn't paying the way.

There was a 100 percent turnout in at least one precinct in the Glades area for the 1952 general election.

All nine voters turned out at the Shawano Village precinct, although one of the nine spoiled his ballot so only eight votes were counted.

The count, supervisor of elections said the size of the precinct was expected to balloon to 40 or 50 voters by the time of the next general election.

A mysterious fire destroyed a packing house and an insecticide plant, owned by W.H. Vann and Warren R. Rietz, and three refrigerated cars owned by the Fruit Growers Express.

Both buildings were covered by some insurance but both were considered to be irreplaceable at the time.

A total of $75,000 worth of damage was estimated.

Bean farmers in the Pahokee-Canal Point area expected to be 1,500 pickers short as the harvest season loomed closer.

The growers were calling officials in Washington in an effort to find a solution to the problem of men being drafted and problems with transportation brought on by shortages of gasoline and tires.

Some weren't waiting though and Roy Vandegrift sent his son to South Carolina to recruit workers but the younger Vandegrift was arrested and charged with pirating labor.

Meanwhile, U.S. Sugar Corp. in Clewiston was being charged with holding field workers in peonage and Glades County Sheriff Jeff Wiggins was indicted for using county prisoners to work on his private farm.

That second cup of coffee for the day promised to be harder to come by with the announcement that coffee would be rationed after Dec. 1.

Federal officials said one pound of coffee would be allowed every five weeks for anyone over the age of 15. That amounted to about a cup a day.
